Chevron Donates $195,000 to Local Students Through Eagles for Education

Company supports STEM education in Monterey County during AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: February 10, 2014

Pebble Beach, CA – Today, Chevron Corporation contributed $195,000 to Monterey County educational programs through the company’s Eagles for Education (EFE) initiative. During the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am, Chevron pledged to donate $5,000 for every eagle recorded during play. Over the course of the tournament, 39 eagles were scored, totaling $195,000. Proceeds from Chevron’s EFE initiative will benefit nearly 20,000 students through educational programs, including Cabrillo College and Project Lead The Way.

“Few things are more important than education,” said Steve Woodhead, manager of global social investments at Chevron. “Chevron is proud to invest in science, technology, engineering and math programs that energize students to follow career paths, which meet tomorrow’s business needs.”

Also at the tournament, Chevron hosted more than 1,000 Monterey County students in the science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) ZONE. The STEM ZONE is an exhibit that uses golf to illustrate real-world STEM applications and to create awareness of how these concepts connect with everyday life.

The Eagles for Education initiative and STEM ZONE are a part of Chevron’s $100 million dollar education commitment to support programs that increase access to and the quality of education and career and technical training. Chevron partners with education organizations, government officials, non-profit organizations and community leaders to develop and support innovative programs that invest in tomorrow’s workforce by educating students, training teachers, providing classroom resources, supporting educational standards, funding out-of-school activities and preparing workers to excel in their jobs.

“The Eagles for Education program is a great example of Chevron’s investment in the future of education,” said Steve John, CEO of Monterey Peninsula Foundation, host organization of the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am. “We are grateful for their support of local, Monterey County students.”
